Experience

Evin joined Swenson Say Fagét (SSF) in 2008. He brings a variety of experience with steel, concrete, masonry, and wood construction for many project types. For all projects, Evin's strong suits are attention to detail, communication with the design team, and the ability to design the most efficient structure for the project team.

Additionally, Evin leads two unique niche markets for SSF. He works with fire departments to ensure the structural integrity of exterior fire escapes on existing buildings. He also works on prefabricated folding buildings that may be erected temporarily or permanently for warehouses, industrial use, and military facilities throughout the United States.
